Correction led all the way and won easily in 1.11. A face not generally know was that in the last race of yesterday every lockey was suspended for bad behavior.—They will be prohibited from riding for others than their owners. This will prevent Taral, Sims, Hamilton, Lambley, Sloan, Littlefield and Doggett from accepting outside mounts.

Littlefield and Doggett from accepting outside mounts.

A dead heat was run in the third race between Glance and Soprano. The former was favorite and the latter was quietly backed all over the ring, her price falling from 20 to 1 to 12 to 1. The pair raced stride for stride throughout the last sixteenth, and limished so close that the judges couldn't separate them. Queen Bess was a fair third.

Fletion got away badity, but closed

Fiction got away badiy, but closed up ground and finished a good fourth. Even money was posted against Russell in the second race. It was quickly gobbled up by the talent, and Russell went to the post a 7 to 10 shot. He won in commanding style under a puil.

Julien was well backed, but after the race was all over his supporters remembered that he never was a good horse with weight up. Long Beach and Kerry Gow, the two outsilers, were beaten off.

It was pasty in spots, and little pools of water could be seen here and there in the stretch.

A force of men worked industriously on these puddles up to the time for the first race, but they did little good.

The weather was cloudy and threatening, and this caused the attendance to be at low-water mark.
